Featured on Jul 17, 2026 by Null: DDoS attacks: the end of the line.

In August '22, Matthew Prince (Cloudflare CEO) wrote this:

<https://blog.cloudflare.com/cloudflares-abuse-policies-and-approach/>

"This is true not just for the content where a complaint may be filed but also for the precedent the takedown sets. Our conclusion – informed by all of the many conversations we have had and the thoughtful discussion in the broader community – is that voluntarily terminating access to services that protect against cyberattack is not the correct approach."

This is a truthful statement. If you control half the Internet, and provide the most important security services in the world (Cloudflare WAF and Cloudflare Network Security), terminating one customer is as good as forcing them down.

We have, in the last few months, experienced literally historic attacks. The small providers we have with in-home DDoS mitigation services are now being overwhelmed. We stayed up for years because attackers could not muster attacks great enough to keep us down. They now can. The botnets are back and they're cheap and accessible. You put coin in slot and point at website: it goes down.

The Kiwi Farms is known for lolcow content but there are subcommunities here that track sex criminals, pedophiles active in grooming and terrorism, and animal crush pornographers. As of the last few months, I have noticed these antagonist groups have found each other and coalesced. I have also been informed by someone I consider very trustworthy that some of these pedophiles are CIs for three letter agencies and my requests that something be done are being deliberately ignored. I believe them.

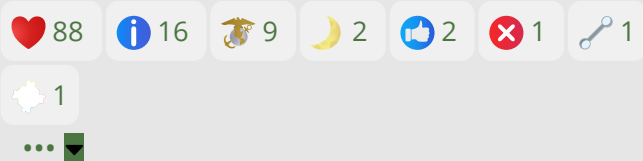

So, I have reached the end of my capabilities. I need DDoS mitigation and I cannot create it from thin air. There is no software I can write, no vibes I can put out, to make several hundred gigabits of attack traffic disappear. I also can't afford it. I wouldn't be able to afford it with three times the numbers of donors we currently have. We're talking about needing pipes and hardware that would start in the tens of thousands of dollars every month.

Even with that money, I wouldn't know where to put it. What datacenter can touch us? What T1 ISP is willing to sell us a terabit of traffic? I don't know and I have not been able to figure it out in years. I've known this entire time, since Cloudflare dropped us, that overwhelming network attack traffic would bring us down and in that time I have found no solution. It is simply beyond my means in every possible way. I do not have the millions of dollars needed to build-your-own-Cloudflare. Matthew Prince knew that as well, which is why he wrote an article saying as much before reversing on it.

I also cannot build a "coalition of the willing". I can't build my own Cloudflare because part of that requires customers, which Cloudflare holds a monopoly on. There is nothing I can offer for any amount of money that Cloudflare does not already offer for free. The number of people in the world at this exact moment who cannot use Cloudflare is one: me. 8chan died after Cloudflare. TDS died after Cloudflare. This is the only website that is not able to use Cloudflare. I can point you right now to an AI child porn site protected by Cloudflare hosted by a guy who spams soyjak with child porn for fun, and Matthew Prince seems to tolerate them. He does not tolerate us. We are the worst site he has ever seen.

So I mean it. I need someone else, somewhere, to help me. This isn't a $20 ask, this is "give me access to something everyone else in the entire planet already can do no questions asked": let me pay $2000 a month for a 1Gbps clean traffic line. Without that I can't do any more.

I wish I had the connections to help you out, Dear Feeder.

All I can do is say I very much appreciate all the work you've put in to this fine site. I'm also very grateful the TOR site is available for us to sneed.

And also death to DDoSers (in Minecraft) (you fucks know who you are and why we make you so butt blasted)

And also, every pedophile deserves to go into the woodchipper feet first.

Edit: Got my answer, thanks. They can join the pedos in the woodchipper.

I wish I had the expertise or connections to be remotely useful here. I am grateful for all you have done and continue to do to create this little sliver of sanity and freedom in clown world. I can only imagine what this must have taken out of you. If this is it for now, it's what it is. If KF continues to exist on TOR, a lot of us will be here. Thanks, Jersh. It's fucked that this has to be so hard.

It is exactly what it sounds like, with all the horror that implies.

Take some kittens, and step on them with some pointy high heels until the insides are on the outside. Send video to sick fucks who goon to it.

Agreed. I'm fine with using Tor to access the site, and everyone else should learn how to do it. I wish we could stay on clearnet, but if nothing works, I understand the choice.

Appreciate all the work Null, I can't imagine how difficult it is to maintain a site like this and deal with these faggots trying to boot the servers off, presumably every single day.

This is truly saddening. Being deliberately ignored by authorities for reporting and working against people distributing the most vile form of video content imaginable is sickening.

Nevertheless, thank you for everything that you do. Not only for the users of this site, but the internet in general. Hopefully TOR will remain stable.

They're people who make videos where they crush animals (usually with high heels) and sickos jerk off to it. Still a very lucrative career in the brown world where they don't care about animals.

The Zoosadism threads on this site are very thorough, and very sickening. I personally don't frequent them, but I respect the Kiwis (and others) who track down those sick fucks.

hang in there nool. we're still backing your site and willing to pay you for your services. if we have to use tor from time to time, so be it. i can tell you're feeling pretty defeated right now but when has this community let you down when it mattered most? every fundraiser, every donation goal, has been met. keep doing what you're doing. they can't ddos the site forever.
